

California

Diablo

This outstanding handcrafted reproduction of a Diablo Roadster is built on a custom chassis. This incredible vehicle is powered by a Corvette 5.7 Liter LS1 engine coupled to a Porsche 915 transaxle.

This car sports Murcielago Roadster 18" rims and new tires.

The paint job on the California Diablo cost in excess of $10,000 and rivals the finish of a production vehicle

This car has the 2001 interior including a Pioneer CD, DVD, navigation and backup camera. Carbon fiber accents and digital A/C controller.

Notice the floor mats are embossed with the Bull to match the exterior color.

Interior

The California Diablo sports racing seats with shoulder harness. Here you can also see the carbon fiber center console.

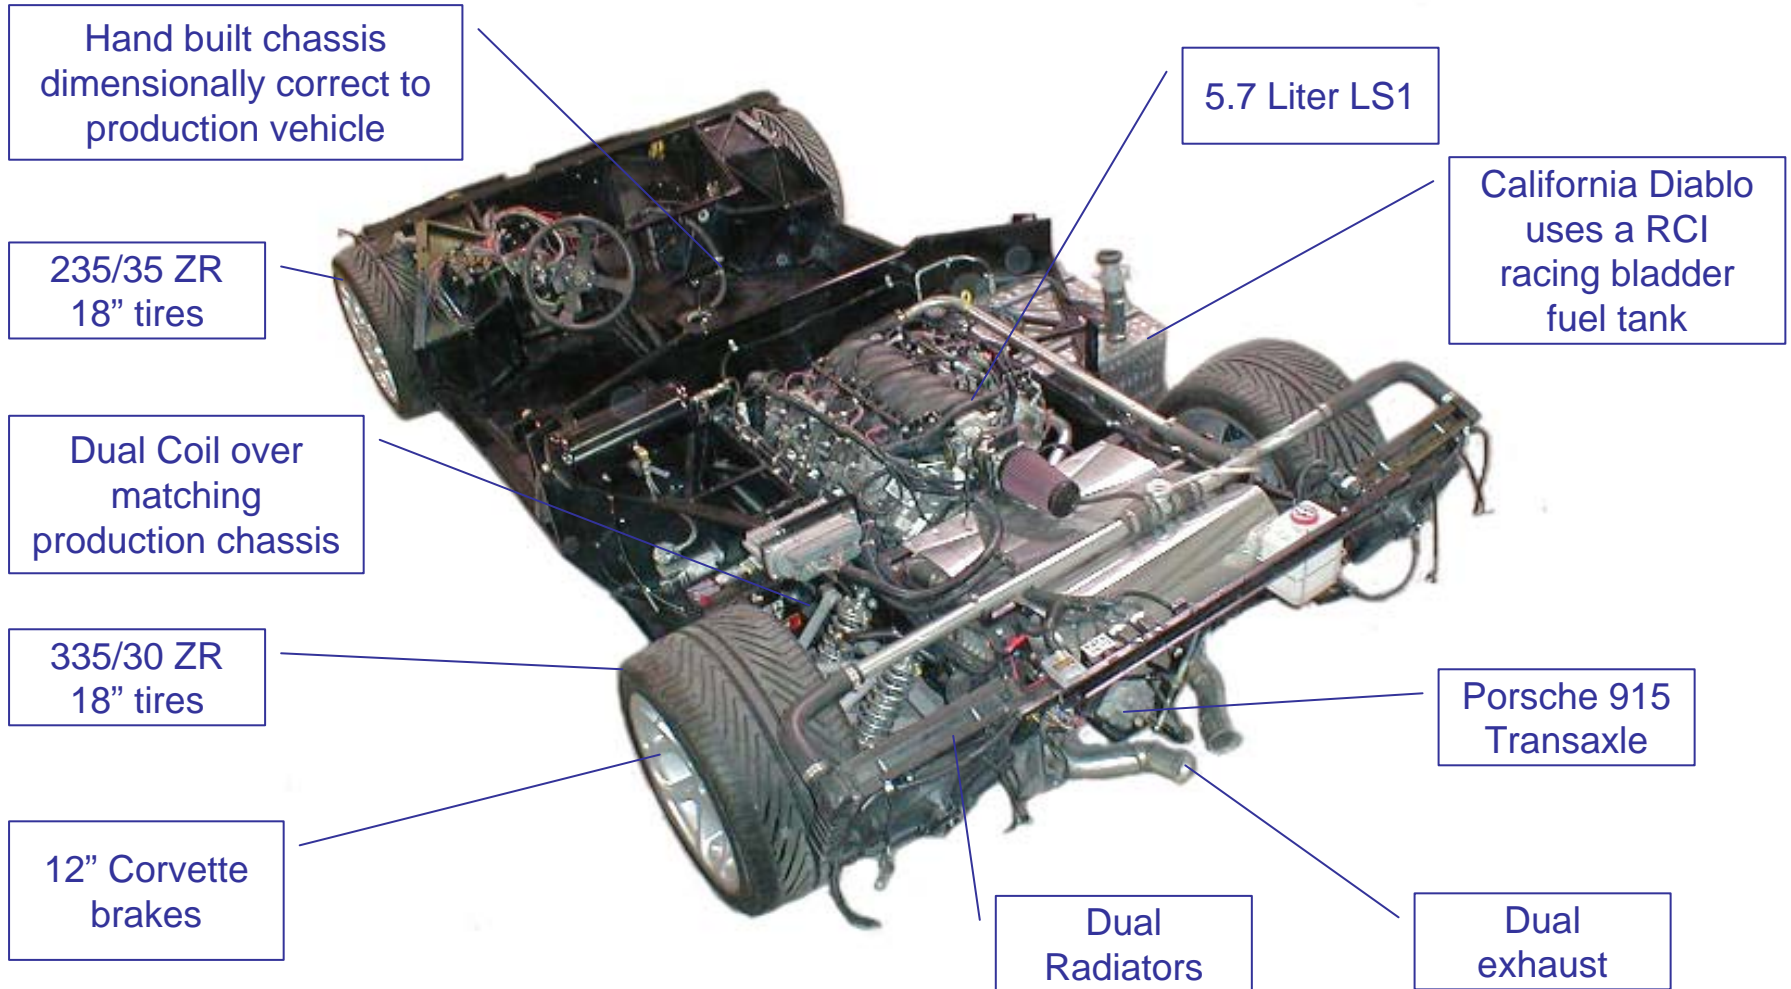

Interior

The gauge cluster includes the Bull emblem. Also note the turn signal and wiper controls replicate the size of the authentic vehicle.

Custom Built Replica Chassis

While this is not the exact chassis on the California Diablo, it is typical of a replica chassis.

California SB 100 Certified

This car has complied with the stringent registration process for the State of California. It has the SB 100 Smog exemption certificate and will never have to be smog tested again in California. If you live in California and wish to drive a replica, this certification is priceless.

If the car is sold in another state, it will have to comply with the registration requirements of that state,

Engine Compartment

The engine compartment is finished with the interior panels. The LS1 is clearly visible and accessible for easy maintenance.

$95,000 California Diablo

$207,500 1999 Lamborghini Diablo VT Roadster

$202,888 1999 Lamborghini Diablo Roadster

This is a hand built exotic replica that is constructed on a custom fabricated chassis. Look at the chart below for some basic cost comparisons. The Black and Red Roadsters are current listings in a National publication.

Item	Diablo Roadster	Hand Built Exotic	Savings
1999 VT Roadster (used)	$205,000	$95,000	$100,000
Maintenance - tune up	$5,000	$500	$4,500
Maintenance - replace clutch	$10,000	$1,500	$8,500
Maintenance - spark plug wires	$1,500	$205	$1,295
Full coverage insurance (annual)	$4,200	$1,850	$2,350

If you are a collector of authentic vehicles, then this may not be the vehicle for you. However if you want the look of an authentic vehicle and would like to be able to actually drive it and enjoy it then this vehicle may be your solution.

The number of completed cars that have been built with a reliable V8 on the replica chassis is very limited. This is a top of the line vehicle that will be a joy for the new owner.

This car sports the new 2001 style dash and carbon fiber center console not found in the 1999 Roadsters.

Construction photos of the vehicle are available upon request.

Summary:

The California Diablo was awarded First Place in Class at the San Francisco Rod and Custom show in January 2007 at the Cow Palace in San Francisco.

There are approximately 3000 miles on this car and it is located in the San Francisco Bay area.

This car does not have Air Conditioning as it is not needed in the Bay area. Because of the concerns with Lamborghini and their current stand on replicas, this car does not have any Lamborghini badges. The Vehicle does not come with an engine cover or lift system but can be installed for an additional cost.

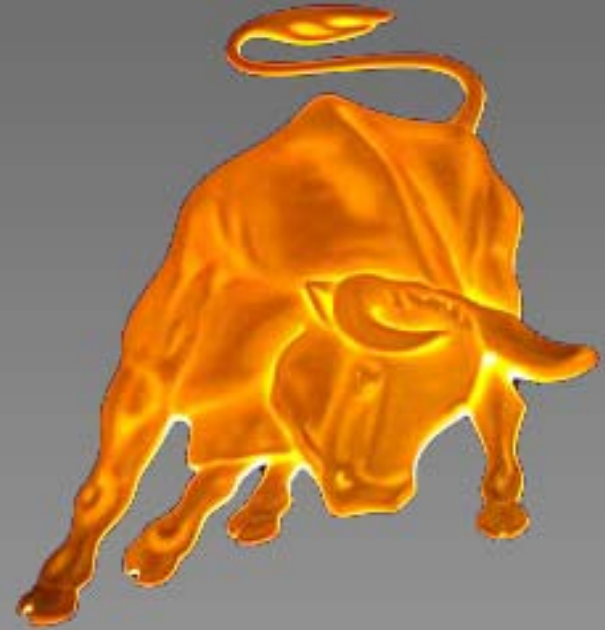

Contact Seller:

If you are interested in this vehicle for the asking price of $95,000, please email your contact information and it will be sent to the seller.

eMail:

dale@lambobuilder.com

California

Diablo